Sagebrush starts resort spots for motor homes, RVs

By Nicole Queen

Travel season is upon us, and even if the economy is down and gas prices are soaring, people will still jump in their RVs and take a road trip.

Sagebrush Realty Development (SRD) is giving them a place to go.

SRD, based in Denver, focuses primarily on commercial and residential real estate development, construction, management and brokerage projects nationwide. But due to the declining real estate market, the company decided to add a new division, Bella Terra LLC, to build resort communities for motor homes and RVs.

Since breaking ground for its first resort in Gulf Shores, Ala., last October, Bella Terra has sold 60 percent of the 179 motor home lots there. The Bella Terra Gulf Shores motor home resort is set to be completed in September.
